LATEST SULTAN OUSTS 87 GIRLS IN ROYAL HAREM

Sylphlike Dancers Barred from Palace.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 24.—[Via Tribune Wireless.]—Gone are the good old days when being sultan of Turkey meant having willowy dancing girls draped all over the palace while the sultan's wives vied with each other in trying to capture the caliph's caresses. Caliph Abdul Medjid Effendi's entire family consists of himself, one wife and a son and daughter. And with just one wife the new caliph is bringing peace to the palace for the first time in centuries.

The new ruler has been married twenty years. He expects to clean up all intrigue in the palace. While the cause of his monogamy possibly is due to morality and true love it may have been inspired by the fact that his father, a former sultan, and his brother, former crown prince, both ended their lives by cutting the veins of their wrists on account of being bored of contention in their harems.

For Abdul Hamid.

In the old days of Abdul Hamid 200 women were allowed the palace staff as dancers, singers, ladies in waiting, servants and cooks, but the present Caliph, Mohammed VI., was allowed only 10 and maintained only 87. The sultan is expected to reduce the number of women still further. About 55 per cent of the palace girls were Christians noted for their beauty.

A prominent Turk had a daughter who was ambitious to marry a sultan. He would offer the girl to the sultan for service in the palace. The sultan chose these girls when they were between the ages of 12 and 14, never older. He acted as paymaster each month for the palace women, drawing the money from the palace treasury, who obtained the money from the government.

When Mohammed VI. slipped aboard a British warship last week he drew all the women's attentions for October and November and left without paying them, leaving them stranded. He also helped himself to their jewels and a large portion of the palace gold plate.

Guides of Sultan.

One feature of the old regime that is expected will be retained is the collection of forty palace eunuchs. These strange, soft voiced, beardless creatures play a curious part in palace life. All come from Arab tribes in Hedjaz. When they are infants they are chosen by their parents for the sultan's profession. They are medically treated between the ages of 5 and 10, retaining all their body organs, but some portions are rendered ineffective.

They are frippes, guides and advisers of the sultan and they form a sort of missing link between the harem and the outside world, for they are the only exception to the sultan's aloofness to enter the sacred precincts.

CALIPH TAKES OFFICE.

BY CAPT. D. H. LOCH.
(London Daily Telegraph.)
CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 24.—Abdul Medjid Effendi, the first of the grand assembly's caliphs without temporal powers, was installed in his office with simple ceremony at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The ceremony occurred at the Topkapou palace, which is known to foreigners as the old Seraglio.

The elected caliph arrived by boat across the harbor from Dolma Bagiche palace. Awaiting him was a special mission from Ankara.

Three Golden Coiffers.

The caliph, preceded by the Angora delegation, entered the pavilion where the sacred relics are stored in three golden coiffers. The chief of the delegation, handing the new caliph three golden keys, said, "I consign to your custody care of the holy relics."

Abdul Medjid then opened the first coffer, which contained the mantle of the prophet, enveloped in forty silken covers, embroidered in gold with verses from the Koran. After venerating and kissing the outer coverings, which also was done by all present, the new caliph opened the two other coiffers, which contained the standard, sword, and beard of the prophet, as well as the sacred writings and heirlooms of former caliphs, all which were wrapped in rich silken coverings.

A crowd of sightseers and newspaper men witnessed the scene, but none of the foreign high commissioners were represented. The caliph was not dressed in uniform, but in a simple black coat with a white dress tie.

FIREWORKS CASE 'EVIDENCE' BLOWS UP IN CITY HALL

Fire, which originated in a suitcase full of fireworks on the second floor of the Criminal court building last night, destroyed the state's evidence in the Singer-Schaffer fireworks company case, caused sudden adjournment of a night session of the Mader murder trial, and partially wrecked an office occupied by four assistant state attorneys.

Excitement was added to that already aroused by firing rockets and exploding torpedoes by the fact that four sticks of dynamite, evidence in the Mader case, were in an adjoining office. Attorney Frank Comerford, counsel for the Mader defense, was making his closing argument on the floor above when the explosions started. "There goes the state's case," he cried as the spectators began to scramble from the courtroom.

The flames practically were extinguished by Officers George Oakley and Charles Johnson before firemen arrived. It was found that the suitcase had been placed next to a radiator. Four defendants in the fireworks case were owners of the company at 1427 South Halsted street, where an explosion in March, 1921, cost the lives of six persons.

Friends of Gov.-elect Smith said one of the big points in his first message to the legislature would be this demand for a state-wide vote on light wines and beer.

4000 SHRINERS 'BOO' THE MAYOR

Hoots and Catcalls Stop His Making Speech.

Mayor Thompson was roughly treated last night by about 4,000 of his fellow Shriners.

There was considerable secrecy about what occurred in the meeting, but before the evening was over the story had been carried from one end of the city to the other—the mayor had attempted to defend his administration against charges made by Imperial Potentate Will H. Wade and was not allowed to finish his speech. He left the stage amid a din of hooting and catcalling.

The charges were that other organizations have been permitted to use lotteries in connection with their bazaars and other fund raising affairs, while a circus on the south side, backed by Masonic groups, was not permitted to sell paddiewheels even for merchandise.

Closed to Public.

It all occurred at the monthly meeting of the Shrine at Medinah temple. The doors were closed to the public and Mr. Wade was said to have talked with considerable emphasis to his brother nobles.

His statement of the case brought a roar of indignation, but in the midst of it Noble William H. Wesbey, a Thompson lieutenant, arose from the body of the house. He said Mayor Thompson was present and should be given a hearing.

Again there was a roar, this time one of denial, but Wade insisted that fairness required the granting of a hearing. He insisted that the mayor come to the stage and that he be allowed to speak. Showing some evidences of discomfort, Thompson spoke for several minutes. He spoke of his loyalty to the organization and insisted he was "sure" the imperial potentate had been misinformed.

Mayor Leaves the Stage.

At this point the racket burst out again. Thompson waited a moment, but it did not subside. He left the stage and started toward his seat. "Nobles," said Imperial Potentate Wade, coming down to the front of the deep stage again, "what I have told you is the truth. I stand ready to prove any statement I have made tonight."

Then the uproar was deafening. It continued for ten minutes. To end it Imperial Potentate Wade called out the patrol, the drill organization, which came to the stage and massed in formation.

It was about this time, according to several witnesses, that Mayor Thompson left the hall.

DURANDS SUED FOR $25,000 BY EX-CHAUFFEUR

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Durand, wealthy Lake Forest society leaders, yesterday were made defendants in a suit for $25,000 damages filed by Elmer Semple, their former chauffeur. The suit is based on alleged false arrest said to have been caused by the Durands and follows the return of a no bill by the current grand jury which investigated charges of automobile theft placed against the chauffeur.

Three days after he accepted employment in the Durand home, Semple, according to the bill, asked permission to return to his former employer's home for his personal effects. Mrs. Durand, it is said, agreed that Semple should drive her to a nearby friend's home and after getting his effects, should call for her.

Semple declares that when he arrived at his destination he found detectives awaiting him and he was arrested on a charge of stealing the Durand automobile. Taken before a Lake Forest magistrate, Semple was bound over to the grand jury. The no bill voted by the jury followed the refusal of the Durands to appear before them.

Greece in Turmoil After Resignation of Cabinet

ATHENS, Nov. 24.—[By the Associated Press.]—Following the resignation of the Greek cabinet set up by the revolutionists, when Constantine was forced off his throne, the political situation is extremely complicated. The military authorities are taking an uncompromising attitude regarding the former ministers, who are on trial charged with treason.

That he was the victim of some enraged patron whom he had sold an automobile and upon whom he had foreclosed a mortgage whereby the patron lost the car.

That he was mistaken for his twin brother, Edward, 164 North Le Claire avenue, who formerly was in business with him and at present also operates an automobile business.

That trouble with several alleged auto thieves, whom he was prosecuting, led to his death.

Police Seek Several.

In these connections the police were seeking several men and women. The identity of none of the women was revealed, but among the men sought for the information they might have tending to help clear up the mystery were:

Daniel Asca, 4412 Van Buren street, alleged to have exchanged several shots with Lanus last summer, or to have fired several shots at Lanus in a quarrel.

"Rugs" O'Malley, alleged to have stolen an automobile from in front of Lanus' agency last September. O'Malley, according to police, had a car, which Lanus was prosecuting, pending against him before Judge Wells in Municipal court. He is alleged also to have attempted to bring pressure to bear to induce Lanus to stop prosecution. Lanus is said to have refused and O'Malley is alleged to have threatened him.

Former Patrons Bitter.

Information obtained by police was that Lanus had many persons bitter against him because of a propensity to foreclose mortgages and deprive patrons of automobiles they had purchased on time. He is alleged to have sold more than 500 cars since Jan. 1 of this year.

Chaplin Again "Engaged"; to Pola Negri This Time

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 25.—Charlie Chaplin, motion picture comedian, and Pola Negri, Polish screen tragedienne, are engaged to marry, according to reports current in motion picture circles here, the Los Angeles Times will state in a story it will publish tonight. SHOT WITH OWN GUN; WOMAN'S GLOVE NEARBY

Love Plot, Revenge, Police Theories.

Joseph Lanus, wealthy automobile dealer, was shot to death from behind last evening in his place of business, 4634 West Madison street.

Theories ranging from murder due to a business quarrel, revenge over business operations, or a love affair, to mistaken identity because of his close resemblance to his twin brother, were advanced by police, after hours of investigation, to account for the crime.

Lanus, known among his associates and acquaintances as "Handsome Joe," reputed to be worth a fortune bordering on $1,000,000, and an official in several local business men's associations, was found dying in his garage about 7:30 o'clock. Two bullets from Lanus' own automatic pistol had been fired into his back at close range.

Women's Glove in Auto.

His body lay with one foot upon the running board of a large motor car, which bore no license plates. On the running board also was his hat. The pistol lay on the floor near the body and inside the automobile was a full length chamois colored woman's glove. Lanus was conscious when discovered, but unable to make a statement. He died while being rushed to Garfield Park hospital in a taxicab.

As the police arrived the telephone in his office near by rang. Sgt. Lee Conley of the Austin station answered it.

"Is that you, Joe?" inquired a woman's voice, and Conley replied, "Yes, this is Joe."

"No it isn't," said the voice, and immediately the telephone clicked. Efforts to trace the call failed.

No Clue to Slayers.

The killers apparently entered and left the place unseen. No witness could be found who had seen them. Lanus' body was found almost simultaneously by Fred B. Fugitt, 5336 West Adams street, and John Anderson, 4635 Washington boulevard, who operates a garage directly opposite to Lanus' place of business.

Fugitt, a friend of the slain man, had dropped in to call on him. Anderson some time before had heard two shots and came to investigate.

Revenge Possible Motive.

Miss Alice McCardle, 4105 Washington boulevard, bookkeeper for Lanus for the last four years, furnished police with practically the only leads they could obtain. She gave Chief of Detectives Hughes and Lieut. John Norton of the detective bureau and Sgt. William Stapleton and William Fowler of the Austin station information which led them to advance these theories:

That Lanus was the victim of a jealous rival in a love affair; he was known to have many women friends and was a bachelor.

That he was the victim of some enraged patron whom he had sold an automobile and upon whom he had foreclosed a mortgage whereby the patron lost the car.

That he was mistaken for his twin brother, Edward, 164 North Le Claire avenue, who formerly was in business with him and at present also operates an automobile business.

That trouble with several alleged auto thieves, whom he was prosecuting, led to his death.

O'Malley, according to police, had a car, which Lanus was prosecuting, pending against him before Judge Wells in Municipal court. He is alleged also to have attempted to bring pressure to bear to induce Lanus to stop prosecution. Lanus is said to have refused and O'Malley is alleged to have threatened him.

Harding Sees Peril in Dry Law Violation

BY GRAFTON WILCOX.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—President Harding and the cabinet are concerned over widespread violation of the Volstead prohibition enforcement law throughout the country and are at a loss to know what to do about it.

For more than an hour today the cabinet discussed ways and means of strengthening the government in its determination to enforce the prohibition laws under the eighteenth amendment without arriving at any definite conclusion as to what should be done.

Revelations were made at the meeting regarding wholesale violation and disregard of the Volstead act which, it is said, were astonishing. President Harding later authorized the statement that at some future date an effort would be made to give the public a comprehensive idea of just what is going on in violation of law.

Situation Alarms Administration.

The President and his advisers, it was authoritatively disclosed, are much alarmed over the situation, which threatens the utter collapse of the law. Apart from the question of law enforcement itself, the matter of grave concern to the President and his advisers is the undermining of the moral sense of the American people through the constant, flagrant and ready violation of the enforcement act.

President Harding felt he is known following the cabinet discussion of the subject that a serious effort is being made to make the enforcement act really effective.

To Appeal to Conscience.

It was intimated that the President may decide to issue an appeal for respect of the Volstead act to the "conscience-driven, government-loving, reverent attitude of the people of the United States," as one of the President's advisers expressed it.

"When men who would not commit a crime under any other statute," the President's spokesman said, "will participate in illegal trafficking in alcoholic liquors without a qualm it certainly is a menacing situation for the nation."

Damps Act in Congress.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Representative Kahn [Calif.] today submitted to the house 4,718 petitions for an amendment of the Volstead act to permit manufacture and sale of light wines and beer.

MOONSHINE NOW THREATENS TO WRECK SOVIETS

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

RIGA, Nov. 24.—Instead of the soviet government receiving a grain tax, peasant tax dodgers are corrupting soviet officials with moonshine, according to the Moscow Pravda, which blames prohibition for the noncollection of taxes. The official newspaper says the Cheka, soviet troops and courts are helpless, being unable to halt secret distilling. The Pravda urges a state monopoly on spirits before the peasants use all their grain brewing vodka and before universal drunkenness destroys the present government.

German Lost; MUST PAY ALL SHE CAN—CUNO

Chancellor Asks a United Nation.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
BERLIN, Nov. 24.—[Via Tribune Wireless.]—Chancellor Wilhelm Cuno made his debut in the reichstag today when he outlined his program for the economic salvation of the nation.

As anticipated, his reparations program was entirely based upon the Wirth note requesting a three years' moratorium on payments and 500,000,000 gold marks ($125,000,000) in foreign credit. But his speech went further when he hinted at efforts to relieve the Rhineland from allied armies of occupation.

The new chancellor, who was introduced by President Ebert, was greeted without enthusiasm. The only applause he received was when he quoted former Foreign Minister Rathenau, who two days before his tragic death, said Germany would never consent to give up the Rhineland, Palatinat or the Saar region, nor to allow postponement of the liberation of the Rhineland.

Reckless His Address.

Cuno did not have the appearance of an orator. He read his speech from a paper held in one hand, while his other hand remained in his trousers pocket.

Herr Cuno touched upon every phase of the nation's external policy, even bringing up the question of responsibility for the war. He pleaded for a united Germany under a new economic policy to increase production. He assured the Reichstag that the eight hour day would remain as a normal day, although the workers probably would be requested to make sacrifices. He promised legislation against profiteers as well as efforts to check prices.

He detailed plans for stabilizing the mark. Dr. Cuno promised an improvement in housing conditions by increased building. He appealed for better conditions for intellectual workers as well as industrial leaders. He mentioned the need for a measure to provide proper food for German children.

Socialists Criticize Cuno.

Herr Breitscheid, the Socialist leader, criticized the appointment of Dr. Cuno, because he was not a member of the reichstag. The Socialists, he said, preferred Herr Stresemann, the leader of the German imperialistic group, for then the complexion of the government would be at least Frank. He protested against the presence of several other members in the government.

Herr Breitscheid publicly accused Herr Muellerbach, minister of food, of being a Rhineland separatist, which caused the latter to be booed by the deputies when he walked out.

Despite Herr Breitscheid's criticism today it is understood that when a resolution is presented by the Democrats tomorrow asking support for the government on the basis of the reparations note, the Socialists will vote favorably.

American Envoy There.

The maiden speech of Herr Cuno was the occasion for the attendance not only by every deputy, but by most of the foreign diplomats, including Ambassador Houghton of the United States.

Early in his speech Herr Cuno said the task for the new government was quite clear and was difficult. Germany must join the league of nations at once and become a free country, he said, adding that only through self-liquidation could Germany have peace.

"We are living under the sign of a lost war," he announced. "A year and a half ago when the London ultimatum demanded that we guarantee the fulfillment of the reparations or take the consequences this policy preoccupied public opinion here, doing harm to all of us. Today the question of fulfillment is cleared. At Cannes and at Genoa, later, the powers represented on the reparations commission were convinced that the burden imposed on the country was impossible of being borne.

Chance of Fulfillment.

"Neutral experts, as well as those of creditor nations, recognized the impossibility of fulfillment in a detailed report. Germany did not say, 'We won't pay what is demanded by the experts of the world.' She said, 'We can't pay.' Despite this, only the gold payments for the cost of occupation were postponed.

"A sword of uncertainty is hanging over Germany. Besides the burden of the armies of occupation, deliveries in kind are pressing us. Germany has 100,000 soldiers, but on the left side of the Rhine and in the forests on the right which are occupied, although this is not provided in the treaty of Versailles, there is an army far superior. Monthly we deliver coal to the army garrisons by far than France's economic need.

"Deprived of industrial and agricultural districts in the east, west, and north, our productive power has been weakened. We have lost our colonies overseas and our right to sea have been taken. All this has turned our payment balance into a passive one, thus forcing a drop in the mark, even if we were not burdened with reparations."

Facet Economic Collapse.

"A continuation of the situation means economic collapse for Germany. If the allies want reparations it is to their interest to help Germany recover. No creditor can oppose the policy suggested by the experts unless they are considering reparations merely as an instrument for violent measures against Germany."

Herr Cuno stated that in the foreground of the reparations was the responsibility for the war.

"However, although the government welcomes a just judgment, Germany cannot deny that she lost the war; hence she must pay to the limit of her capacity," he added.

Only through this attitude did Herr Cuno believe that America could be induced to participate in Europe's economic problems, which, he asserted, could not be solved without the United States.

"Reconstruct Devastated Region."

"After the vital necessities of Germany are cared for," he continued, "we must do everything to reconstruct the devastated region. There must be such limitations which correspond to the treaty of Versailles which limits Germany to her capacity."

The government will support the consumers against the profiteers, he stated, but added that industries will be given security. The eight-hour day remains the normal working day, but a small limit for overtime on a tariff basis is contemplated.

Reform in the manner of state employment was a vital point in the internal policy, he said. The budgetary reform bill provides that state works must obtain a maximum of effort with a minimum of expense.

Plans Tax Reforms.

After emphasizing the need for increasing the government's income, he outlined new tax plans.

"The government agrees with the reichstag that those able to pay should make a sacrifice," said Herr Cuno.

Regarding the necessity of restoring confidence abroad, he said the government was restoring transatlantic relations. A socialist cried out:

"What are we trying to do, establish industrial relations with America?"

To this a People's party deputy responded, "If you can, you will save Germany."

Peace Against Violence.

Herr Cuno expressed a fear that the winter would increase the bitterness in the nation.

"We will do everything to moderate this misery," he promised. "Violence will not improve anything, but will only increase poverty and destroy our last moral and economic hopes. We ask you to use your influence to maintain order. No state can exist without order."

He promised also to do something for the old and the young and the crippled, whom the government has been neglecting and who must beg for a living.

VERDICT ORDERS

$250,000 POND

ESTATE DIVIDED

Division of property valued at more than $250,000 between Mrs. Lily Pond Holmes of the Ambassador hotel and her brother, Walter E. Pond, was made possible yesterday as a result of the verdict of a jury before Judge Ira Snyger which invalidated the will of their mother, Mrs. Sarah A. Pond of Canton on the ground that she had been unduly influenced when the will was executed.

Suit for revocation of the will was directed by Attorneys Weymouth Kindland, Harris Williams and Jay Stough against Mrs. Pond's attorney, Roderick E. Hollett, Jr. whose office the will was drawn, and who, it was charged, had taken advantage of Mrs. Pond's mental incapacity.

The will established a trust fund, naming Hollett as trustee and directing payment of the income to her two children. Hollett was to continue in absolute control of the estate until the death of the last lineal descendant of Mrs. Pond, a period which might have run for more than fifty years, it was pointed out.

BEACH SITES

At the request of Ald. Dorsey Crowe of the Twenty-first ward, the council finance committee has decided to spend next Friday afternoon studying plans for the construction of a "downtown beach" between Ohio street and Chicago avenue. The committee decided to visit the proposed beach site.

In presenting the plan and asking an appropriation of at least $65,000 to start the work of filling in the shore line with sand and to place temporary lockers in the adjacent municipal pier, Ald. Crowe said if work is started in the near future "the beach will be in fair shape by July 1 of next year."

BULGAR-GREEK DEMANDS WRECK BALKAN ENTENTE

Battle at Turk Parley on Outlet to Sea.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(Copyright 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.)

LAUSANNE, Nov. 24.—The Turks today smashed the embryo of the Balkan bloc. The near east conference faces an open break as a result of Bulgaria's refusal to accept Greece's proposal to make Dedeagatch a free port under control of a mixed commission. The Bulgars at a meeting of Lord Curzon's committee on boundaries held out for control of the port by their government, with railway rights through Grecian Thrace to the Aegean.

In private conversations with Premier Stamboulyski, Ismet Pasha had promised Bulgaria a corridor to the Aegean similar to the one agreed on in 1915 if Turkey were given its 1922 frontiers in Europe. As a result the Bulgarian premier tonight stated to THE TRIBUNE that the subcommittee's recommendations for a free port were "worth less than an airplane right of way" and Bulgaria would fight the decision.

Repeating the agreement with the Balkan bloc on near east affairs, to which he became party Wednesday night, Premier Stamboulyski asserted "Bulgaria is not committed to Greece, Roumania and Jugo-Slavia on near east questions."

Allies to Stand Pat.

The allies decided tonight not to change the plans for commission control of Dedeagatch, a French delegate said. The treaty of Neuille, which fixes the Bulgarian frontiers and prescribes the terms of peace, will be cited by the allies if the Bulgars continue to protest.

Gen. Weygand's report recommending an eighteen mile neutral zone on each side of the Turkish frontier was adopted, but the committee's suggestion for guarantees in case of violation was shelved temporarily. This action was taken because the British are demanding a similar zone on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles and also around the Bosphorus, including Constantinople, and the question of guaranteeing all zones will be considered as a whole.

Lord Curzon's plan provides for a treaty between the powers assuring military protection of these zones. Adoption of such plans would give the British perpetual domination of the straits and the Bosphorus, because British naval squadrons would then be able to patrol the highway without the slightest danger of attacks from the shores. Neither the French nor Italian delegates are ready to commit their governments for such guarantees for the British, although they seemed willing to guarantee the Turkish frontier.

Charge Turkish Intrigue.

Bulgaria's about face is charged to Turkish intrigue in promising the Sofia government an autonomous corridor and also to Bulgaria's Slav brothers, the Bolsheviks. Both promised to make Bulgaria a full fledged member of a three cornered agreement on the near east.

The Turks are pleased at the Bulgarians kicking over the traces. They insist the Ankara national assembly will be able to negotiate its own affairs with its neighbors and other states if the big powers confine themselves to making peace between Greece and Turkey, as originally intended.

Bulgar Premier Radoslav Stand. Premier Stamboulyski revealed to THE TRIBUNE that "free port facilities and railway right of way to Dedeagatch" mean nothing.

"Bulgaria can only develop foreign commerce through its own territory and its own ports, and not through a port where it is merely tolerated," he said. "It might as well offer a right of way for planes to fly over."

The Balkan powers are not in a common agreement on the policy toward Turkey. Bulgaria is not in accord with the other Balkan powers on this question, but simply is looking after its own interests. It is not bound in any pact with the little entente.

A communique issued tonight and official allied spokesmen tried to hide the split in the conference, referring only to the "reservations" made by Bulgaria.

Merge Conferences.

LAUSANNE, Nov. 24.—[By Associated Press.]—The plan to hold two conferences, one for reestablishing peace between Turkey and Greece and the second to fix the status of the straits of the Dardanelles, has been abandoned, it was stated today, and the problem of the straits has been merged into the general conference.

1—Japan has concluded the final agreement to get out of Shantung. China gets the railroad and the coal mines adjacent.

2—The territory of Tsingtao itself becomes a self-governing Chinese municipality.

3—The Japanese appoint the harbor control. The Chinese protest this, claiming that there will be discrimination in favor of Japanese shipping.

'HOTEL HOMES' HIT IN HURLEY'S WAR ON DIVORCE

Encouraged by numerous commendatory letters and the knowledge that the number of divorce petitions in the Superior court had decreased almost daily since the opening of his war on Chicago's "hotel order" divorce suits, Judge Timothy D. Hurley yesterday launched an attack upon "hotel check room homes and theatrical lodging agencies residences."

Haiting Jean de Klade, an actress, in the midst of her recital of how she had been deserted by Abraham de Klade, an actor, Judge Hurley yesterday launched an attack upon "hotel check room homes and theatrical lodging agencies residences."

Married in February, 1913, in New York, Mrs. de Klade claimed Chicago as her home and attempted to prove the assertion by declaring that she considered the Grant hotel "home" because she checked her trunk and packages in the hotel check room.

The records of the hotel will be scrutinized by Judge Hurley this morning to discover if Mrs. de Klade ever occupied a room in the hotel.

"The old principle that wherever one hangs one's hat is home is not good law in a divorce case," Judge Hurley said, "and I will have to be shown proof of residence before I will enter a decree in a case where apparently the home consists of a trunk checked in a year and year out in some hotel or a paper bag left at the parcel counter."

Actor Denied Decree.

Hugh S. McGuire Jr., also an actor, was denied a decree by Judge Hurley, when he admitted that he had secured service of legal notification of his suit on Mrs. Gertrude E. Foxhill McGuire by publication and was uncertain as to whether Chicago was actually his home.

McGuire admitted that he had been arrested on a charge of wife and child abandonment.

"I live at the Hotel Sherman right now," declared McGuire in answer to questions by Judge Hurley.

"Have you a room rented there permanently?" asked Judge Hurley.

"No," McGuire admitted.

Through his attorney, Leon A. Bernick, McGuire asserted that he would appeal from Judge Hurley's ruling. Production of letters from Mrs. McGuire indicating that she had pleaded for a reconciliation after learning of the divorce suit and that she was unable to contest the case caused Judge Hurley to indicate that he would demand that the state's attorney appear before the appellate court to fight McGuire's application for a decree from the higher court.

'ORGY OF WASTE' DUE FOR AIRING AT HOGUE TRIAL

His Aircraft Work Here a Joke, U. S. Charges.

Rounding up of 100 witnesses, expected to tell of the luxurious careers of Clarence I. Hogue and other aircraft officials here during the war, began yesterday on request of District Attorney Charles F. Cline, who announced that his office will oppose further efforts to delay the case, continuing seven times since indictments were voted in 1918.

Following a review of the case, federal officials predicted that evidence which will reveal the "orgy of extravagance" that existed here in the office of the district manager of the inspection division, aviation section of the army signal corps, will amaze persons inclined to believe that such "horse play and reckless use of money is enacted only upon the stage."

"Themes on Orchids."

According to Mr. Cline, "the court will have difficulty in suppressing laughter when a crowded courtroom hears testimony such as the evidence of how men on the payroll as airplane inspectors were assigned as librarians and instructed to write themes on the culture of orchids."

While the trial will be directed against Hogue, Lucian M. Simpson, and Elmer J. Comer, indicted for irregularities in the inspection office, testimony of subpoenaed witnesses is expected to develop "highlights" that will cause uneasy moments for a number of sons of wealthy families who were exempt because of their "service" in the aircraft office.

Some of the Witnesses.

Among individuals whose names appear in the indictments against Hogue, Simpson, and Comer, and who are to be called as witnesses, are the following:

Sidney K. Bennett, a phenologist, who drew pay as a "plane inspector," but was assigned as a "character analyst," it is alleged.

Charles H. Bruce, on the payroll as an airplane inspector, but assigned as an assistant librarian. "Bruce" in reality was John Clabaugh, father of Hinton G. Clabaugh, then head of the bureau of investigation, department of justice, here, federal agents claim. One of "Bruce's" assignments, government reports state, was to prepare a treatise on the culture of orchids and violets.

John Cunningham, formerly a doorman at the University club, on the payroll as a "clerk," but in reality an attendant to Hogue, instructed to "walk twenty paces behind him," it is said. The government will attempt to show that Cunningham was selected because of his ability to point out young men who were "well connected" socially.

JAPANESE YIELD TO CHINA; LEAVE SHANTUNG DEC. 1

Englishman Running Tsingtao Port Now.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(Copyright 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.)

PEKING, Nov. 24.—Japan will vacate Shantung on Dec. 1, making heavy concessions to China. Military operations have been begun against the band of bandits terrorizing Honan province, and the brigades have threatened to kill the missionaries they have in captivity. The bandits have retreated from the railway zone on the approach of troops. An early release of the foreigners therefore is unlikely.

Tsingtao will become an open port when the Japanese surrender control and the self governing municipality acknowledged Chinese sovereignty, apportioning the municipal and central revenues. An Englishman already has succeeded the Japanese as customs commissioner, independently of the treaty, thus ensuring an open door. The Chinese apparently having won their contention that the pier, wharves and warehouses are independent of the railway.

Over this question a long deadlock existed, Japan insisting that these be included in the security for the treasury notes to be issued in payment for the railway. China contended that this would prevent the development of the port facilities, while it will also control berthing and loading, as these services would be under a Japanese traffic manager. Thus the Japanese would be able to discriminate in favor of Japanese ships and merchants.

Another dispute concerned the mines along the railway, for which China refused Japan's demands for 10,000,000 yen ($5,000,000) on the ground that this amount was exceeded by the value of the coal mined.

COUNCIL FINANCE COMMITTEE HITS MAYOR THOMPSON

With the announced purpose of preventing the Lundin-Thompson city administration from spending the huge sum to enhance Mayor Thompson's chances of reelection, the council finance committee last night divided the appropriation of $4,532,700 for street and alley cleaning into four equal parts and directed that it be spent in quarterly installments.

The committee took another slap at the city administration when it turned down the recommendation of Commissioner of Public Works Francis that the number of ward superintendents be increased from thirty-five to fifty.

POISONED CANDY IN MAIL FATAL TO MOTHER OF EIGHT

De Valera, Too, M Death if Cau

Pond du Lac, Wis., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Who sent Mrs. Frank Schneider, age 38, wife of a Calumet county farmer, a poisoned chocolate bar which caused her death one hour after she had eaten a portion of it? The candy was poisoned with arsenic, authorities believe.

Postal inspectors tonight are engaged in trying to trace the box of candy delivered at the Schneider home near Joliet. A letter addressed to Mrs. Schneider, which accompanied the box, was signed by Mrs. John Goesser of this city, sister of Mrs. Schneider.

"I saw Mrs. Schneider on Saturday and she was in splendid condition," said Dr. Goggin today. "She was improving so rapidly that I expected her to be up and around by Monday."

Found Woman Suffering. Dr. J. W. Goggin, who was called, said he found Mrs. Schneider suffering from convulsions which decided her features and caused extreme chill and nausea. The physician has removed the contents of the stomach and sent them to Milwaukee for examination.

WAR OF REVENGE PERILS ERIN AS CHILDERS DIES

De Valera, Too, May Face
Death if Caught.

DUBLIN, Nov. 24.—[United News.]—The Irish Free State's new policy of "no quarter" in enforcing its laws has awakened fear lest it lead to a civil war and a dangerous situation here.

Attention on the nationalists' rigorous course of disregarding conciliation and clemency and unsparingly asserting its authority has been fixed by the execution of Erskine Childers, chief aide of Eamon de Valera, early today. Mr. Childers is the first prominent rebel to be executed. He died after a military court found him to have been in possession of an automatic pistol when arrested. He was regarded as the brains of the republican rebellion in Ireland. The execution, therefore, is held to be an outstanding example decided upon by the nation's attitude toward restoring order. There has followed the popular query: "Will the Free State now arrest and prosecute De Valera?"

Executed Despite Appeal.
Mr. Childers' execution, following a desperate legal fight, was carried out despite notice that an appeal had been taken to the Court of Appeals for final judgment on the military court's decision. No announcement was made as to the form of the execution, but it is understood that he was shot at Kilmainham jail, where other rebels were executed for a similar offense a week ago.

Mr. Childers' American wife first heard of the execution at noon today while praying for a favorable decision from the Court of Appeals, where she thought her husband's case was to be finally passed upon. The news was brought to her in an official manner, she claimed.

ONCE A BRITISH HERO

BY JOHN STEELE.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign Service.)
(Copyright 1922, by The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, Nov. 24.—[By Tribune Wire.]—I knew Erskine Childers, one of Eamon de Valera's chief aides, who was executed by the Irish Free State this morning, for a number of years. While there was no doubt as to his sincerity in Irish affairs, there seemed no other course possible for the Irish government.

Mr. Childers was an Englishman and was a nephew of one of Gladstone's champions of the exchequer. He served with distinction in the British army during the Boer war and also in the world war, winning the D. S. O. for his excellent work with the intelligence department. He won the rank of major.

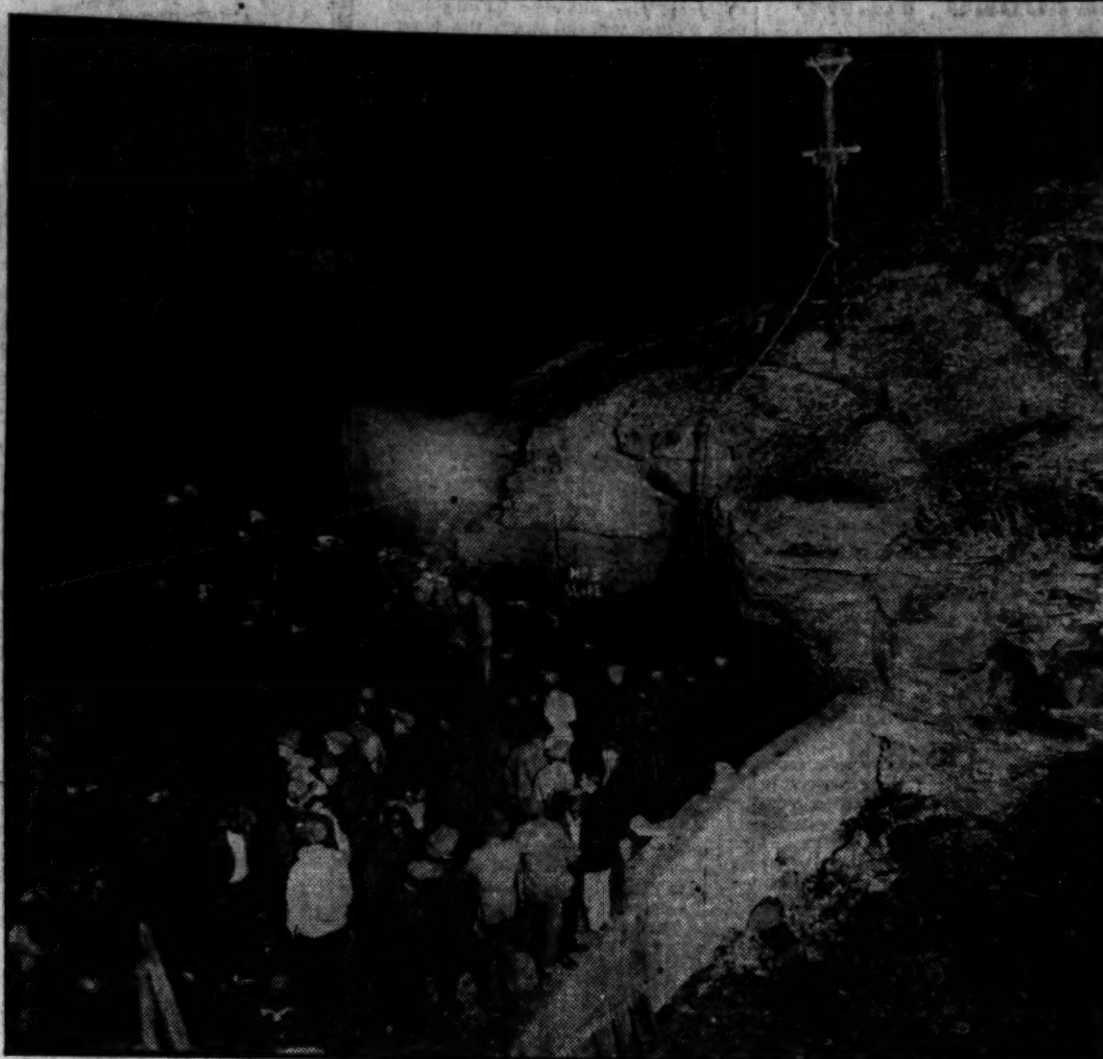

After the war Mr. Childers tried to make his home in England, but was bitterly disappointed at his reception, and he went to Ireland, where for a time he posed as an English sympathizer of the moderate nationalists. Later he made his home the rendezvous of extremists. He also assisted in the Sinn Féin propaganda department.

Signed Irish Treaty.
Mr. Childers was one of the secretaries of the treaty commission and he signed the document, much of which was his handiwork, but he soon returned to Ireland and denounced it. Later he became Mr. de Valera's chief adviser. He was the brains of the rebel movement and was in command of several operations against Free State troops.

Mr. Childers' wife was Miss Osgood of Boston, an American. She became a bitter enemy of England as her husband. She acted as his secretary and maintained a home, Ashcroft House, for Sinn Féin fugitives. Mr. Childers was deeply distrusted by both Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins. I have heard Mr. Griffith denounce him in the Dail as a "damned Englishman" and Mr. Collins once told me that he suspected Mr. Childers of being a British agent provocateur.

Parliament Gets Irish Constitution.
Prime Minister Bonar Law today introduced to the house of commons two bills, one approving the constitution of the Free State and the other empowering the government to make consequential arrangements. The bills will be passed through all stages next week, becoming law before the expiration of the year.

Start Federal Suits Against Army Camp Contractors

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Civil suits to recover more than $20,000,000, alleged by the government to have been fraudulently expended in the construction of Camps Upton, Jackson, Sherman, and Funston, were instituted today by the department of justice against the contractors who were in charge of each project.

The suits were said in official circles to be the initial step in a campaign against wartime contractors who are suspected, on the basis of auditors' reports, to have gone beyond the intent and purpose of the authority given them by federal departments.

Additional actions are in prospect, it was said at the department of justice, as soon as complete reports have been made by the special force of auditors. Whether criminal action would be taken in any case, it was said, would depend upon the results of the civil suits.

Total Mounts High.
Unofficial estimates place the total which might be expected to be recovered from all the construction cases at between $70,000,000 and $80,000,000. In the cases filed today, the government alleged that the Hardaway Contracting company spent an excess of $6,500,000 in building Camp Jackson, South Carolina; the Thompson-Starrett company, $8,000,000 at Camp Upton, New York; A. Bentley & Sons company, $5,000,000 at Camp Sherman, Ohio; and George A. Fuller & Co., $4,000,000 at Port Riley, Kansas.

The suits were filed at Charleston,

S. C., Brooklyn, Columbus, and Topeka, respectively.

Identical Bills of Complaint.

Identical bills of complaint were laid in each case, the principal accusation being that the contractor violated a "direct and intimate relationship of trust and confidence" in executing his contract while it was impossible, because of the existing war emergency, for the government to exercise normal supervision and inspection of the work.

As a result, it is alleged, the contractor stands indebted to the government for money in sums set forth and for great quantities of material, declared to have been purchased on government credit and misused.

The detailed charges varied somewhat against the different companies. Among them were a "great and unconscionable waste," "materials purchased, sold, and repurchased at profit," "incompetent workmanship," "loading," "permission of sabotage," and "unnecessary delay."

FULLER OFFICIAL SURPRISED.
E. S. Belden, vice president of George A. Fuller & Co., sued for $4,000,000 in connection with the construction of Camp Funston, said yesterday that he could not understand what the government's suit was based. Although it was said at Washington that Camp Funston cost over $11,000,000, Mr. Belden said his company had received less than $8,000,000. "I will have nothing to say until I know more about it," Mr. Fuller said.

They ran along the pier. Although there was a good deal of grinding and a crash when the Mauretania carried away a few feet of its main deck rail and converted a painter's stage alongside the pier into kindling wood, a few hundred dollars will cover the damage.

MAURETANIA, AT N. Y. PIER, RUNS AMUCK IN GALE

New York, Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Sixteen tugboats and as many hawsers could not hold the Cunarder Mauretania this afternoon against the strong ebb tide and northwest gale, which caught the lofty superstructure of the liner and blew her like a sailing ship into the slip at pier 54 at a speed of six knots. The ship was minus the services of its starboard bow pressure turbine.

There were about 500 persons waiting. When they saw the liner's sharp stem approaching the center of the

MRS. TIERNAN THREATENS TO REOPEN DIVORCE

Collapses When Ex-Mate
Attempts to Marry.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.

Mrs. Augusta H. Tiernan, who fought through the Tiernan-Poulin paternity case of South Bend to prove that "the other man" and not her husband was the father of her third child, collapsed last night with rage, humiliation and despair when she learned that Prof. John P. Tiernan, formerly of Notre Dame university, divorced but a day, had left her, supposedly with "the other woman."

Because Harry Poulin had scorned her as a sweetheart, she confessed to her husband the illegitimacy of her baby Billy. Because John P. Tiernan scorned her as an ex-wife, she last night determined to reopen the divorce suit today, and attempt to have the decision of Judge Chester Montgomery set aside on the ground of collusion.

Ex-Wife Charges Trickery.

When Mrs. Tiernan, in her home at 1033 Diamond avenue, was informed last night that her former husband yesterday afternoon had been refused a marriage license at Waukegan and regained consciousness only to sob out a bitter story of trickery.

Mrs. Tiernan charges that when her husband realized that she could not obtain a divorce he suggested that he would file a cross complaint, get a divorce and the custody of their two children, Mary and Irene. He then planned, she said, to give the children to her, to "recruit" her in some remote town, marry again, and begin a new life together. He outlined this plan, she charged bitterly, because he said, "this might satisfy the public and Notre Dame university officials."

Mrs. Tiernan's first suspicion of her husband's duplicity, she maintains, came early yesterday morning, when, returning from a motor trip, she found a note, signed by Tiernan, pinned to the library lamp. It read: "You are now a free woman. I'm going to Chicago, but will return Monday evening. I still respect you."

Stunned with surprise, worried because she "hadn't a dime" with which to buy food for the children, she immediately thought of a nurse named "Blanche," who corresponded with him from a town in Iowa.

A telegram, addressed from Chicago to Prof. Tiernan, was delivered to him yesterday, but he refused her at the South Bend office. She immediately hired a private detective to trail her ex-husband and made plans to reopen the divorce proceedings. She became enraged with Prosecutor Floyd O. Jefferson, who prosecuted the Harry Poulin case for her, when he called her on the telephone last night and commanded her not to give out any information.

Unable to Identify Woman.

Mrs. Tiernan was unable to identify "the woman in the orange hat," who is reported to have accompanied a man giving the name of John P. Tiernan to Justice Robert J. Peersall of Waukegan yesterday and asked him to apply for a marriage license. Justice Peersall says he refused this because such action would not be legal within a year after a divorce is granted after the man frankly had told the magistrate that he was the South Bend professor who had been given a divorce the day preceding.

And last night, with Prof. Tiernan "missing," and Mrs. Tiernan sobbing more vindictively over the actions of her ex-husband than she had over the scores of her sweetheart, the two little girls cried for their father, into whose custody they have been given, and the nameless baby slept.

Five Hurt in Trolley Crash.

Five persons, four young women and a man, were slightly injured yesterday in a street car collision when a loop bound Three car, turning east into West 21st street, was knocked from the tracks by a Racine avenue car.

Writes from Russia

MISS DOROTHY NORTH.

Famine conditions are so bad that Russian peasants are planning where they will dig graves for those who die, according to a letter received from Dorothy North, Chicago society girl, a member of the executive committee of the Quaker famine relief in Russia, with headquarters at Vusuluk, Samara.

Miss North's letter said: "In spite of the great promise of the spring, the harvest has again failed. Little is said, for the peasants are plucky, and they have seen death face to face. But they tell us quietly that it will be even worse than last year, when they still had something to sell. In some villages they are already planning where they will dig the pits to bury the dead."

Miss North is the daughter of Mrs. William Stanley North, 7 West Walton place.

AUTO ACCIDENT INJURIES RESULT IN THREE DEATHS

Three victims of automobile accidents died yesterday in Chicago. Sophie Salvetti, 9 years old, died at the home of her parents, 3418 Wallace street, twenty-four hours after she was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. D. McLaughlin, 1455 Sunnydale avenue. Frank Granger, 37 years old, 355 South Michigan avenue, succumbed to injuries received on Oct. 20. Mrs. Mary Haggard, 2061 Emerson avenue, injured Thursday, died without regaining consciousness.

EX-POLICEWOMAN TRAPS MATE AND GIRL IN OFFICE

His Partner and Young Woman Also Taken.

(Picture on back page.)

Mrs. Mary C. Riley, former policewoman, yesterday wound up two weeks' shadowing of her husband, William Riley, by locating a woman in his office at 184 West Washington street, shattering the glass door with her hand, and creating such a racket that other occupants of the building, thinking a murder was being committed, called out two squads of police.

Mrs. Riley was accompanied by Elizabeth Pope, wife of her husband's business partner, Frank Pope, sometimes called "the millionaire newsboy."

When the indignant wife poked her fist through the glass, Riley and Pope stepped out of the window to the fire escape and remained there until the police arrived.

Second Girl Arrested.

On the way to the station, with the woman found in the office, who gave her name first as Marie Davies and later as Mary Davis, the party encountered Mrs. Irene Fredell, who was accused by Mrs. Pope of having been too friendly with her husband, and Miss Fredell was arrested.

The two wives swore to complaints against the women, charging them with disorderly conduct, and the case will come up today in South Clark street station for full airing of an alleged double barrel triangle.

According to their story, told by Mrs. Riley and Mrs. Pope to Capt. William O'Connor and Lieut. Garret Cohn, who headed the two squads of police, Riley and Pope some time ago developed "love engagements, prime fight appointments, and night business," which the wives interpreted as suspicious. So they began watching.

Spies on Apartment.

Mrs. Riley and Mrs. Pope rented an apartment at 630 Cornelia street, from which they claim to have watched the two men and the two girls in an apartment at 624 Cornelia. From behind the curtains there they claim to have observed much. Yesterday they decided was the time for the "showdown."

Room 201 at the Washington street address, the scene of the debauches, previously had been the place of many fights and at least one murder, and the first crash there yesterday was enough to convince all within hearing that there was another killing.

ALIEN OWNERSHIP OF WEST INDIES PERILS AMERICA

Gen. Reilly Exposes Danger to Panama Canal.

BY GEN. HENRY J. REILLY.
(Editor of the Army and Navy Journal.)
Great changes take place gradually. Generally the public, busy with its own personal affairs, is unconscious of these changes until some chapter ends in a series of dramatic events and forces them upon their attention. Even then the majority fail to see the causes stretching back through the immediate past and consider that fate has unfairly sprung a surprise upon them.

No better example of this exists than the recent great war, the inevitable end of a great chapter in history, the signs of the coming of which had been plainly written across the political life of Europe for at least twenty years.

The Washington arms conference, to the mass of our people, meant an opportunity to lessen the chances of war, and even, in the case of extremists, to abolish war. That war-wary peoples throughout history have had the tendency to swear off immediately after indulgence, in the same way that a man who has been drunk does the morning after, either escaped their attention or was deliberately ignored.

Real Significance Overlooked.
The real meaning of the Washington conference escaped our people, and it is to be doubted if they have as yet sensed it, much less really understood it.

The European and Asiatic delegates realized that the time had come when, just as the Atlantic took from the Mediterranean the crown of being the sea of most importance to the civilized world, that today the Pacific is taking it from the Atlantic.

To these delegates the arms conference represented nothing more than a struggle for the most favorable position from a naval point of view, such that the power of sea supremacy in this ocean would be secured and thus world commercial supremacy in overseas trade.

Routes of Vital Import.
The routes by sea for commerce in time of peace and for the armed forces of a country in time of war are of decisive importance in peace time development and wartime decisions. History from the beginning of time shows the tremendous influence exercised by land and sea routes. Every schoolboy is familiar with the effects caused by the discovery of a route across the Atlantic ocean, a route around Africa, and one around South America, the subsequent development of the countries affected favorably, and the decline of those interested in the old overland routes from Asia to Europe. In the same way the tremendous influence upon the country concerned came from the opening of the Suez canal is well understood.

Prior to the building of the Panama canal the easiest route from western Europe to eastern Asia was the long, difficult one through the Mediterranean, the Suez, the Indian ocean, through the narrow straits of Singapore, and on up the coasts of China and Japan.

The only sea route from our Pacific to Atlantic coast was the long one around South America. The Panama canal is changing all this, just as new sea routes in the past changed the then existing conditions.

Canal Grows in Value.
Quietly, gradually, unknown to the majority of the people of this country, the Panama canal is increasing in commercial importance and in its influence on the trade of western Europe and eastern America with eastern Asia. Other countries understand this better than we do the great benefits derived from carrying their own goods instead of paying some foreigner to do so. Having long engaged in and studied foreign trade, they thoroughly realize in a way we do not the growing importance of the Panama canal.

Looking at the map it is immediately evident that while North and South

Island Necklace Menacing America at Panama Canal

Supporting Gen. Reilly's description of dangerous foreign outposts about the Panama canal, appearing elsewhere in this edition, the map shows British, French, and other alien possessions along the great Caribbean and Pacific America are connected by the narrow strip of Central America, they are equally connected by the peninsula of Florida and the string of islands stretching from that peninsula to the Venezuelan coast of South America. Nature has left many canals through this strip between the tip of Florida and the Venezuelan coast. We have made one—the Panama canal—through the other strip connecting the two continents.

Danger in Alien Ownership.
Furthermore, the possession of these islands by powers other than ourselves not only gives them partial control of these routes, but what is more, gives them the bases from which to operate against these routes and also against the Panama canal.

Also the map plainly illustrates that between the Atlantic and gulf ports of the United States and the canal there is a fence of foreign possessions through which our ships must pass. In the same way, but to a lesser extent, various islands in the Pacific, of which the Galapagos are the chief ones, furnish bases for attack against the best routes leading to the canal and the canal itself. The Galapagos islands belong to Ecuador, Holland, France, and Great Britain divide with the three republics of Cuba, Haiti, and Dominica the West Indies.

Necessity Ignores All Law.
That such a course is not right ethically does not alter the fact that when national existence is threatened nations, like individuals in danger of death, take the steps which seem to promise the greatest security most quickly.

The struggles of the Dutch and the can fleet could travel from the Atlantic around the Horn to the point of peril. Other annoyances in time of peace and added dangers in time of war are dealt with by Gen. Reilly's articles.

British for the control of the sea routes from western Europe to eastern Asia led to the seizure of a great many islands and points important as bases. The struggle between the Spanish and the British is a history of similar seizures through combat. The struggle between the British and the French in North America, in the Mediterranean, and in India is another chapter of history of the same character.

Recent tendencies show that the world, instead of embarking on a period of peace, is embarking on a period of disturbances of various kinds, and, inevitably, wars, as a consequence. That a vital crossroads, where land and sea routes between North and South America cross the Pacific, can avoid playing a prominent part in any future struggle in which countries with a seaboard play a part is contrary to common sense and history.

A Decade Is but a Day.
A period of twenty-five or fifty years is nothing in history. Nations without fleets today, or with minor ones, may have the most powerful naval strength within the next generation.

The development of the air has only just begun. With the tremendous distances already covered in a short period of time there can be no doubt that the near future will see as complete a conquest of the third dimension—the air—as the human race has already taken place on the surface of the earth through the development of steam transport on land and on sea.

Holland, Portugal, and Spain were great sea powers with bases all over the world. For a long time France disputed the rising naval power of Great Britain.

In the days of wooden sailing vessels, without refrigerating apparatus, without canned food, men fought each other for the possession of distant islands and strategic points all over the world, and as they gained or lost possession of these necessary bases their home country and its commerce rose or fell.

Amplification of Distance.
With the immense vessels of today, with their tremendous carrying capacity and speed, their refrigerating apparatus and wireless means of communication, to cross the Pacific to Panama and thence into the Caribbean, or from the Atlantic ports of Europe to the same region, is as nothing by comparison with the voyage successfully performed in the days of struggle for bases and trade which took place when the period of discovery opened up the world to the European races.

Aside from change of territory, due to conquest, history is full of examples of the trading of different pieces of territory for various advantages in other directions. Every time Europe has had a war, territory all over the world has been swapped at the peace table. Also territory has frequently changed hands in peace.

When England traded Heligoland for a protectorate over Zanzibar, she made what seemed to the average civilian at that time to be an excellent bargain. The inability of the British public to understand the tremendous value of this small island as a base in case of war cost their sons and grandsons dearly in the recent war.

As long as we are friendly with the present possessors of these islands they are of no value to them. If the present friendly relations should cease, the possession of these islands by us could no longer be England, France, or Holland. On the other hand, the possession of these islands by them would distinctly menace us.

Another article in this series will appear in an early issue.

LEYGUES' VIEWS FOR THE TRIBUNE AROUSE ITALY

Suspicious Peril Washington Navy Pact.

BY V. DE SANTO.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
ROME, Nov. 24.—(By Tribune Wireless.)—George Leygues' statement to the Tribune concerning France's decision not to ratify the Washington naval treaty because it desires a larger quota than Italy's has produced a painful impression in this country.

All the Italian newspapers this evening print the Tribune's story and show apprehension as to the outcome of such a stand on the part of France.

"America's Pet Creature."
Italian naval authorities state that France's attitude puts Italy in a most embarrassing position with respect to the United States. An admiral who refuses to have his name mentioned, says:

"The naval treaty is America's pet creature. Italy gave her fullest support because she agreed with America and was convinced that it was a good thing for humanity to stop the mad race for top place in naval armaments. We intended to have the treaty ratified at the present session of parliament. It is now impossible for us to ratify the treaty. If we do, we must put a reservation in the clause saying that we will be forced to withdraw if France starts building a larger navy than that allowed at Washington."

Missed by France's Attitude.
"We could not afford to let France get ahead of us. I feel that France's attitude is offensive to us and we are sympathetic towards the United States. The harder we try to get along with France the harder she makes it for us."

British Not Worried.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
LONDON, Nov. 24.—(By Tribune Wireless.)—British officials refuse to discuss the threat of Georges Leygues, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the chamber of deputies, that France will not ratify the Washington naval agreement. The British position is understood to be that it does not matter much what the French do.

The three great naval powers of the world, America, Great Britain, and Japan, have an agreement, and they need not worry if the French and Italians start bankrupting each other by building warships because it would be years before they could accomplish enough to be a big threat to the sea power.

The British are watching closely the effect of former Premier Clemenceau's speeches in America. They feel America now is seeing at first hand the French spirit which has made the British effort to help restore Europe to prosperity most difficult.

HARDING IS SILENT.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—At the White House today it was stated that President Harding would not venture to say at this time what would be the course if the treaties on limitation of armaments were not ratified by all the signatory powers. It was added, however, that the executive felt strongly that the work of the arms conference would never be undone.

CHIEF EXPLODES "$100,000 GLAND ROBBERY" YARN

Investigation yesterday led Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes to doubt the amazing story of the "$100,000 gland robbery" involving a supposed Chicago millionaire, his 25-year-old fiancée, a prominent surgeon, and Joseph Wozniak, 1857 West 17th street, told him by a private detective Thursday night.

"It looks," the chief said, "like a wild cock and bull story. Nothing the man told us appeared to have any foundation. We investigated his story and learned that nothing he told us would bear inquiry."

Wozniak, on Oct. 12 last, was found under a viaduct near his home in the southwest side. He bore traces of a crude operation and told a story of having been attacked by several men who threw a sack over his head and chloroformed him.

EXECUTIVES HEAR EX-PROFESSOR.
Dr. Frank W. Dignan, formerly professor at University of Chicago, discussed ways to save the "irretrievable waste by employees in the handling of everyday problems" at the luncheon of the Executive club yesterday.

$10,000 CACHE OF DOPE IS SEIZED IN ROCK ISLAND

U. S. Sleuths from Chicago Raid Junk Yard.

BY WALTER RODERICK.
Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Interest was diverted from the grand jury investigation into Rock Island's vice for a few hours this afternoon when two federal agents from Chicago, members of the narcotic squad, swooped down on a junk yard here and seized $10,000 worth of dope of all kinds, stolen recently from Camp Grant at Rockford.

A. D. Harris, owner of the yard, was taken before United States Commissioner, Sinnott, who fixed his bonds at $5,000 and set the hearing for next Friday.

More than 1,000 army medical belts were seized, seventy of which were found to be still fully loaded with opium, morphine, atropine, strychnine, and other drugs, as well as complete hypodermic outfits for their administration.

Declares His Innocence.
Harris produced what purported to be a bill of lading, showing he had purchased 5,000 army belts at Camp Grant for $292.75.

"I bought the belts at a sale and I sold some of them, but I didn't know they had dope in them," he said. "I thought they were filled with just plain medicine of different kinds."

Four indictments were returned today. John K. Scott, city attorney, is named in two of them, one for maintaining an office in permitting gambling joints and houses of prostitution to run, and the other for conspiracy in connection with a monopoly which operated over 300 punch boards in cigar stores, soft drink parlors, bootlegging joints and other resorts.

He was released in $10,000 bonds pending trial.

Looney, now a fugitive from justice under indictment for conspiracy to murder Dan Drost, Thomas Cox, superintendent of police; Lawrence M. Pidgeon, now held without bail for the murder of "Bill" Gabel; and Robert Kline, owner of the Bijou cigar store, also are named in the indictment charging conspiracy.

Others Named in Writs.
These indicted for conspiracy to operate gambling houses and saloons are Frank Easton, Martin Kline, George Martin, Harry Meener, Joe Burnak, Al Schmidt, George Williams, G. Smith, Louis Ortel, and Al Gregg.

Looney is said to have exacted $400 monthly tribute from their places as payment for immunity from police interference. The bonds in each case were set at $5,000.

"Bill" Gabel, assassinated on Aug. 1, was named in the last indictment, which charges a conspiracy to operate houses of prostitution. Ernie Owsler, formerly proprietor of the Rex, known as Looney's biggest place; Neil Davis, Joe Mark, William Rice, George Marshall, and Helen Vandale, known as "Gabe's sweetheart," also are named.

PERSHING WIRES HE WILL BE HERE TO GREET 'TIGER'

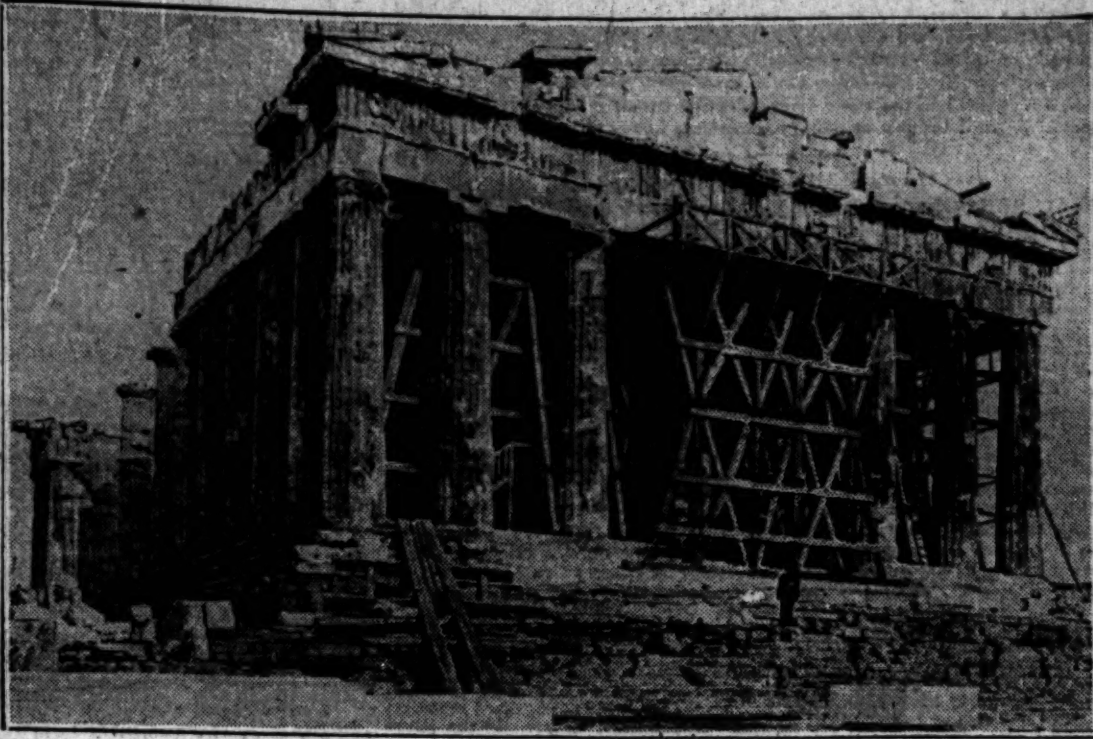

Admirers of Georges Clemenceau, the "Tiger of France," who is scheduled to arrive in Chicago Monday afternoon, are hoping he will depart from his announced program and make a formal address. Reports from the east indicate that the "Tiger" discussed from programs in New York and Boston and made public addresses. Arrangements are complete for the reception of M. Clemenceau, according to Attorney Victor Lilling, chairman of the reception committee. Gen. John J. Pershing yesterday wired Gen. Charles G. Dawes that he would arrive in time to welcome the former French premier.

From Chicago the "Tiger" goes to Springfield, Ill., to place a wreath upon the tomb of Lincoln. His next appearance will be in St. Louis.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Federal control of coal distribution must be continued until Jan. 1, President Harding decided today. C. S. FAHERTY TARGET IN TWO ATTACKS FROM ALDERMEN Defy His Threat to Stop So. Water Job.

Michael J. Faherty, at a tense session of the council finance committee last night, threatened to abandon the South Water street improvement unless he is given full power to negotiate public benefits. In the course of the debate he endeavored to shift some of the responsibility for the enormous expense of the project to his shoulders.

There was hardly a moment during the session when Faherty and from one to three aldermen were not on their feet shouting. Incidentally, Ald. Louis B. Anderson, Mayor Thompson's colored floor leader, was a leader in the fight to prevent Mr. Faherty from being given unlimited power to negotiate public benefits which, it is estimated, will be somewhere between $2,500,000 and $10,000,000.

Richard Denies Charge.
Ald. Richard emphatically denied Faherty's statement that the chairman had advance knowledge of expert fee payments to Thompson-Lundin adherents which amounted to $2,740,000 in 1920 alone. The denial was so vigorous that it was regarded as the passing of the lie. The row started when Faherty, in pleading for the right to negotiate public benefits in the big improvement case, said: "I've always kept the finance committee informed of my actions. I never spent a dollar that this committee didn't know about."

"That isn't true," Ald. Woodhull shouted. "We didn't know you were going to exceed your appropriation to pay your experts."

Clings to Old View.
"I didn't exceed my appropriation," Faherty retorted, flushed and angry. "The whole bond issue was appropriated when the people voted it."

This theory of the law was held to be erroneous by Judge Charles M. Foell in deciding the demurrers in the expert suits brought by This Tribune.

"But this committee didn't know you were going to pay your experts money in excess of our specific appropriation," Woodhull pursued.

The chairman did," Faherty shouted. "I took it up with him. He knew of it."

"You didn't," Richard shot back. "You must certainly did no such thing."

"I'll prove it in court," Faherty answered.

"You will not," Richard replied hotly. "You can't prove it, for it isn't true."

Faherty Tosses Gantlet.
The battle over the right to carry on negotiations with property owners for reductions in their assessments in connection with the South Water street improvement was almost as warm as the expert fee argument.

"Suppose we let you settle these 11,000 or 13,000 lawsuits the way you want to," Woodhull said. "Soon you will pile up agreements calling for the payment of $7,000,000 or $8,000,000 of the public's money. Where are you going to get it?"

"Ask the people for it," Faherty answered.

NEW CARDINAL LIST OMTS ALL AMERICAN NAMES

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

ROME, Nov. 24.—[By Tribune Wire.]—A list of seven new cardinals to be created at a secret consistory on Dec. 11 was published today. American Catholics in Rome are disappointed not to see the names of Americans on the list, as was expected.

I am informed from reliable sources that Cardinal Gasparri will resign as papal secretary of state right after the consistory. It is said he will leave the Vatican before Christmas.

He is reported as having said to one of his nephews, "Come to my apartment soon to take my luggage, for when I leave I will leave in a hurry and won't have time to gather up my things. I don't expect to stay here many more days and after I leave I don't expect ever again to put my foot in the Vatican."

My informant said these words must not be interpreted as an expression of anger or resentment against anybody, but simply as the cardinal's disappointment for his unsuccessful attempt to bring about a reconciliation between the church and the state.

answered promptly. "If we fight the case through the courts without negotiating and compromising, we will be at it for ten years."

Ald. Woodhull, L. B. Anderson, and A. O. Anderson declared that, before committing the public to further expenditures, they were for ascertaining the amount that would be necessary in court, and then asking the voters if they are willing to approve a bond issue for the amount.

"Take your choice," said Faherty. "Untie my hands or I'll withdraw the improvement next Monday."

"You can't do it. You haven't the power," Ald. L. B. Anderson declared, referring to the fact that Corporation Counsel Etelson is attorney of record in the case.

"Mike," "I'll show you next Monday."

GO TO LAUSANNE, CLEMENCEAU'S PLEA TO AMERICA

Declares U. S. Can Settle Problems of Near East.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 24.—[By the Associated Press.]—His fighting blood up, M. Georges Clemenceau, the Tiger of France, turned from the abstract to the specific today, answered his critics at Washington with barbed phrases and declared that what he really came to America for was to seek to draw the United States into the conference at Lausanne for the settlement of the eastern crisis.

Speaking before a fashionable audience, Clemenceau said he had not intended to tell Americans how to run their own business.

"But they have asked me to go further," he said, referring to the assertions of senators that his address were too vague. "They also dared me. I am ready today, in Boston, to go a little further. I'll give you not an advice, but what I think."

Urges U. S. Participation.
"There is at Lausanne a conference where England and France are supposed to agree with Italy, which might meet with some difficulties. Let the Yankee come and say, 'Good day, gentlemen; is there a seat for me?' They will give him an armchair."

"Never were circumstances better. Go there and you will find the eastern question which is troubling the world for the last 500 years. And you will do more—you will settle it, because you can do it, because the presence of America in Europe again will tell the Germans that they won't go further than certain limits, and because everybody will understand that there is a moral and material power which is to take possession of the world, not for domination but for freedom."

"Let my conclusion be this: Let us unite. Let us be good. Let us be free."

The aged war premier, looking a trifle worn but full of enthusiasm, spoke for more than an hour.

Answers Critics in Senate.
Earlier in the day he had answered his first American interview, in which he answered caustically his critics in yesterday's debate in the senate. He paid special attention to Senators Hitchcock and Borah.

He paid his respects to them again from the platform, without, however, using their names. And his defense of himself and of France against charges of "militarism" and "imperialism" here were couched in terms of respect rather than in fiery sentences.

"Today," he said, "I hear I am an imperialist because France has a war budget of 5,000,000,000 francs and that I am a militarist because the French have military service of eighteen months."

Makes No Promises.
"Well, I hope if we are not too early surprised by a new war that this time of military service can be shortened. I hope that the French war budget can be lessened. But I am not going to make any promises about it."

"I would like very much to hear

HARDING DECLINES TO COMMENT ON VIEWS OF MONS. CLEMENCEAU

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—President Harding has no comment to make on the addresses delivered in this country by Georges Clemenceau, former French premier, it was stated officially today at the White House.

from anybody at what time we turned militarist. It was not when we were fighting, because we never had soldiers enough. Was that militarism because we saved the whole of the world from the German dominating undertaking? Was that militarism?"

The Tiger renewed his assertions that Germany was arming and preparing with Russia and Turkey for a new war. Adding that he was much surprised when he learned his statement that Germany was arming had been questioned, he drew an official looking sheet of paper from his pocket.

Says Germans Make Guns.
"Here is a paper that was not intended for you," he said. "They say they don't fabricate guns, and of course they don't fabricate guns. But if they don't, tell me why on the 15th of July in one manufactory that I know of the officers of the allied armies discovered cannon enough to arm two corps?"

When M. Clemenceau quit the audience gave him a long ovation. Then he climbed into his limousine and drove to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

M. Clemenceau will go to New Haven tomorrow to attend the Yale-Harvard football game.

Tiger's Life Threatened.
St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 24.—[By the Associated Press.]—A letter declaring that "the bullets are ready" for the visit to St. Louis Dec. 5 of Georges Clemenceau, was received at the mayor's office today. Following receipt of the letter, which was signed a lead pencil scrawl, "American War Veterans," police officials announced that additional precautions will be taken to protect the Tiger when he is here, although it was said the letter probably was written by a crank.

A similar letter was received a few days ago by Acting Mayor Ales, and a third predicting that Clemenceau would go to his grave if he comes to St. Louis was forwarded to city officials by Gen. Charles G. Dawes from Chicago.

DROP PARTY ROW, CLEAN CITY HALL, BRUNDAGE PLEA

Urges Picking 'Good Man' to Defeat Mayor.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Attorney General Brundage last night demanded that all thought of factional advantage be dropped in the selection of a candidate to oppose Mayor Thompson next spring.

He spoke at a joint dinner of the Republican organizations of the Forty-fourth and Forty-sixth wards—his old Twenty-third ward territory almost entirely—at the Parkway hotel. It was held primarily for the selection of a candidate, but in speaking of the issues facing the voter Mr. Brundage brought in the majority.

Wants City Hall Cleaned Out.
"The man we support for mayor in the approaching campaign," he said, "must be a man we can count upon to clean out the present misgovernment of the city hall."

"He must be a man who had had experience in big affairs; a man who will rise above all factional differences, a man whose loyalty to the people will arouse public confidence."

"One of the difficulties encountered in the past, the obstacle of factional selfishness, should not be allowed, in this period of the city's tremendous need, to prevent unification of the decent citizenship of the community behind such a man."

Would Unite on Good Man.
"So far as I'm concerned, and I'm sure I speak for you, too, in this we will be for any good man who can and will administer the affairs of the city honestly and capably regardless of whether he has been or has not been identified with us in any way. All we ask is that he be fair to the city and to the people of the community."

Ald. Thomas O. Wallace was enthusiastically indignant for alderman of the Forty-fourth ward and John W. Belmont, a real estate man and an active supporter of Brundage for years, was indignant for election from the Forty-sixth.

REFORM FIRST, THEN PASS LAW, COOLIDGE WARNS

Sees Contempt of Courts in Centralization.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Coolidge's reform does not begin with a law, but with a warning. In these words Vice President Coolidge called attention to what he regards as the real danger in the extension of federal regulatory activities into the field of local self government originally deemed the exclusive province of the states.

The Vice President thinks it impossible to halt and turn back the movement toward greater centralization of government. He regards the extension of federal functions the result of the force of public opinion which has emboldened the nation upon a course from which it "could not withdraw now it would."

Public Support Necessary.
Experience, however, demonstrates in the opinion of Mr. Coolidge, that great caution should be observed in further expansion of federal police power functions, lest reforms be inaugurated prematurely and found difficult of enforcement from lack of overwhelming popular support.

An illustration of the Vice President's point is afforded by the national law prohibiting intoxicating liquor and suppressing traffic in narcotic drugs. "The limit of the law is manifest in the exercise of the police authority," said the Vice President. "There can be no perfect control of personal conduct by national legislation. The problem of preventing vice and crime and of restraining personal and organized activities is as old as human experience."

People Must Pay.
"When provision is made for far-reaching action by public authority, whether it be in the nature of an expenditure of a large sum of money or the participation in a great reform, it all means the imposition of large additional obligations upon the people. In the last resort it is the people who must respond. They are the military power, they are the financial power, they are the moral power of the government."

"If this conclusion be sound it becomes necessary to avoid the danger of asking of the people more than they can do. The times are not without evidence of a deep seated discontent shared in generally by those who contribute by the toll of their hands and their brain to the carrying on of American enterprise."

Far Burden Grows.
"As the standard of civilization rises there is necessity for a larger outlay to maintain the cost of existence. As the standard of civilization rises the burden of the tax which it requires becomes manifold when it is finally paid by the ultimate consumer. When there is added to this aggravated financial condition an increasing amount of regulation and police control the burden of it all becomes very great."

"In a republic the law reflects rather than makes the standard of conduct and the state of public opinion. Real reform does not begin with a law, it ends with a law. The attempt to drag the body when the need is to revitalize the soul will end only in ruin."

INDIGNANT.
Nov. 23.—I fail to see why this should welcome a citizen of Clemenceau as a very clever diplomat. I think his speech was a masterpiece of diplomacy and deceit. This man has nothing in common with us, and his coming is just an attempt to play the game of the round Europe against this country. We don't need the friend-ship of France, and don't want her, but we do want every dollar this country, France is a lion. But, thank God, some congressmen are crafty also, as the play of France. I shall well feel up with everything French, and I fought for that. But never again. If looked upon by the different an example of civilization, I give me German Kultur.

PLEASED.

BARR, BARBOUR PAPA PUT MAMMA IN FIGHT TO LEAD IN TRUNK, GIRL, 9, ILLINOIS SENATE SAYS; FIND BODY

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Organization of the new Illinois state senate will depend largely on the result of the contest between Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet and Senator James J. Barbour of Chicago for president pro tem.

Senator William S. Jewell of Fulton county, who was president pro tem. during the last session, does not desire reelection, it is understood, and Senator Barr's candidacy is as good as announced.

Senator Barbour is prepared to lead a fight against a senate organization in which Senator Barr would be an important figure, and seek election as president pro tem. upon a platform that is opposed to any state administration procedure that centers around the Thompson-Lundin-Small program.

The budget, in control of the finance department, is in the latter stages of completion. Gov. Small's determination, expressed to heads of all departments, is to "cut everything to the bone," and the budget will be materially lower than that which went to the 1921 session.

3 IN MICHIGAN CONSIDERED FOR NEWBERRY TOGA

Detroit, Nov. 24.—Interest in Gov. Grosbeck's consideration of a successor to the senate seat of Truman H. Newberry today centered in a conference at Ann Arbor between the governor and Dr. Marion Leroy Burton, president of the University of Michigan.

Dr. Burton, it was believed, was one of the three to whom the governor said the consideration had narrowed down. Other names were believed to be those of Dr. David Friday, president of the Michigan Agricultural College, and W. W. Porter, chairman of the state utilities commission. Some observers considered Dr. J. B. Kennedy of Detroit still in the running.

25,000 MORE MEN TAKEN OFF JAP ARMY PAY ROLL

TOKIO, Nov. 24.—The second reduction of the personnel of the army, which will become effective tomorrow, provides for the relieving from service of 25,000 first and second year men and twenty men from each infantry company. Before the end of March 4,700 noncommissioned officers will be released.

SEVERINGHAUS IS INDICTED AGAIN; PERJURY CHARGE

Based on Sworn Denial of Threat to Sue Jury.

Printing business obtained by the house of Severinghaus from the board of education yesterday resulted in Milton Severinghaus being indicted for the second time. An indictment charging him with perjury was reported voted by the regular grand jury. The day before he was sentenced to ninety days in jail for contempt of court.

The perjury indictment was the outgrowth of the contempt hearing. Under oath Severinghaus had denied allegations that he had publicly threatened suit against the grand jurors who voted his first indictment and witnesses who testified against him. Four witnesses testified they heard him make the threat.

Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley ruled that the threat to sue constituted contempt, and, after sentencing Severinghaus, directed Attorney I. T. Greenleaf to present the facts to the grand jury.

Witnesses Before Grand Jury.

The witnesses before the grand jury were Lillian Clement and Charles E. Wilson, employees of the board of education, who testified they heard the remarks Severinghaus swore he did not make, and James Lynch, the notary public who administered the oath to Severinghaus on his sworn denial. School Trustee Sadie Bay Adair, herself indicted on a charge of still a trustee, was called as a witness but did not testify. She and Superintendent Mortenson had previously testified they heard Severinghaus' statements.

As the perjury indictment does not directly pertain to the school board investigation taken over by Attorney General Brundage the prosecution will be in the hands of State's Attorney Crowe, according to Assistant State's Attorney Roy Fairbanks, in charge of the grand jury.

Crowe to Handle Bither Case.

The state's attorney will also handle the embezzlement indictment against William A. Bither, ousted school board attorney, and Henry Kaup, real estate dealer, who got into school board trouble through his friendship with Albert H. Severinghaus, then vice president of the board of education and a trustee despite his indictment. A call for a special venire of 100 jurors to try these two next Tuesday was issued yesterday by Judge Jacob Hopkins.

Attorney Frederick A. Brown, appointed a special assistant attorney general yesterday, announced the opening of new offices from which the school board investigation will be directed. Attorneys Marvin A. Barnhart and Charles Haff will be with Mr. Brown in the offices on the eighth floor of the Standard Trust building, 105 West Monroe street. They requested that any one having information pertaining to the investigation

PRESIDENT NOT TO ASK FOR CHANGES IN IMMIGRATION LAW

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—President Harding has no thought now of discussing in his forthcoming annual message to congress a modification of the act sharply limiting immigration to the United States, White House officials said today. It was stated that while naturally the executive was cognizant of the discussion of this question in the public press, no definite proposals have come officially to his attention.

Almost simultaneously with the White House statement announcement was made in the house by Chairman Johnson of the house immigration committee that hearings would be started by his committee early in December, with a view to correcting the quotas of immigration permitted under the present laws.

Mr. Johnson indicated that a plan was under consideration for amending the law to restrict the admission of undesirable and deny permanent residence to aliens not eligible to citizenship.

either call there or write to that address.

START NEPOTISM QUIZ

School Trustees Hart Hanson and J. Lewis Coath yesterday began an investigation into what they claim is an attempt on the part of Thompson-Lundin school officials to create positions in the school system for relatives of trustees and other department heads, despite what has transpired before the grand jury. They cite the case of Miss Hazel Struwing, 17 year old daughter of Mrs. Pauline Struwing, vice president of the board.

According to their statements, Miss Struwing was to have been made a second assistant office secretary in the office of W. L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education, at a salary of $2,500.

Works as Temporary Employee.

Miss Struwing has been working as a temporary employee and was not among those discharged by Dr. John Dill Robertson when he took over the presidency of the board. To keep her on the pay roll, it is claimed, the shape to place her in Bodine's office were taken.

Supt. Mortenson yesterday produced a copy of a letter which he wrote to Mr. Bodine, blocking the efforts to put over the plum, which says, in part: "I should, of course, be unwilling to make any recommendation for Mr. (Miss Struwing's) assignment under the subterfuge of a new title designed for the purpose of avoiding civil service requirements."

Another development yesterday showed to what extent the schools have been paying tribute to Virtus Rohm's insurance company, according to Mr. Coath. On Oct. 30 some of the trustees, Coath said, became "suspicious" of a recommendation of Charles J. Forsberg, former business manager, that some plate glass insurance be awarded to O. W. Huncke & Co., Rohm's concern, which Forsberg said was lowest bidder.

J. A. Guilford, elevated to Forsberg's place when he took leave of absence under indictment, was ordered to advertise for bids. The result shows that the Huncke concern bid $117.57, while Cory, Moorhouse & Co. offered the same insurance for $164.25. This bid was accepted by the board. It is said to be the first insurance the board has not placed with the Huncke company for several years.

and as for bakery products—

Too much baking down to a price and too little baking up to a standard have brought about a situation in which many residents of Chicago really have only the most casual knowledge of bakery products of first quality.

Henrici's, however, has given only secondary consideration to price as related to the sale of its bakery products.

The pre-eminence which this establishment has attained in the production of a wide variety of bakery products, including coffee cakes and fancy cakes, is founded upon undeviating maintenance of the highest possible standard of quality.

There are, in Chicago, many places in which you can purchase at prices below those maintained in the bakery department of Henrici's.

But to the best of our information and sincere belief there is no place in which quality equal to Henrici quality can be purchased at any price.

Today, when you come to luncheon, pause a moment at the bakery counter and decide as to your preference for Thanksgiving Day cakes.

Orders given today, or at any time between now and Tuesday evening will be wrapped fresh from the ovens on Wednesday and will be ready for delivery upon your call at any designated hour.

PREDICT BONUS AWARDS AT RATE OF 1,000 DAILY

Board Perfects Plans to Rush the Payments.

BY MORROW KRUM.
Springfield, Ill., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Soldiers' bonus claims will be paid at the rate of 1,000 a day as soon as the official canvass of the Cook county vote on the $55,000,000 bond issue has shown the legal majority required, those in touch with the service recognition board claim. The daily payments may be increased after the machinery has been properly broken into the work.

Plan for Speedy Work.
The board, composed of Gov. Small, Adj. Gen. Carlos E. Black, and Edward E. Miller, state treasurer, has formulated a tentative plan whereby the staff of clerks required to commence the payment will be pressed into service at the first possible minute.

Some of the more optimistic believe that claims may be paid even before the first of the year, but the general opinion is that few claims will be ready for payment at that time.

It is also argued that the money will not be available before that date.

Steps to Be Taken.
A survey of the steps that must be climbed to the payment would show that the following must be accomplished:

A—The official canvass must show that the bond issue was passed.

B—Legal opinions on the application blanks must be obtained.

FOES TRY TO SINK, FRIENDS TO KEEP SUBSIDY AFLOAT

7 Hours of Debate on Shipping Bill.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Debate on the ship subsidy bill continued for seven hours in the house today, with opponents hammering hard at the measure and supporters defending it with equal vigor.

The longest speech of the day was by Representative Davis (Tenn.), a Democratic member of the committee on merchant marine and fisheries, who declared that if the bill is passed there will be "the worst scandal in the history of the American republic."

Mr. Davis attacked the bill from all angles and declared that no legislation will get the government out of the shipping business or will promote the sale of ships at any price worth while until world conditions improve.

Those who spoke in favor of the bill included Representatives Chindblom (Ill.), Kirkpatrick (Pa.), Lehigh (N. J.), and Jeffers (Neb.), all Republican members of the merchant marine committee.

Representative Johnson (Wash.), chairman of the house committee on immigration, urged approval of the feature of the bill which requires half of the immigrants coming to this country to be carried in American vessels.

The general debate on the bill will be concluded tomorrow. Amendments will be offered next week, with a final vote on Wednesday.

Mr. Davis declared that the bill is in the interest of the large passenger lines, and said the Leviathan would be able to receive a subsidy of $900,000 a year, or double that amount, in the discretion of the shipping board. He referred to reports that a large company would be formed to purchase the cream of the shipping board fleet, with some of the present officials of the board as its officers.

Representative Chindblom dealt with the greater cost of constructing and operating an American vessel than under conditions prevailing in foreign countries.

"I think," he said, "that we would have been better off if we had passed this bill six months ago and the tariff bill a year ago. The best proof that we cannot establish a successful merchant marine without government aid is the fact that it has not been done."

JUDGE DAVID BRANDS KU KLUX KLAN AS "IMBECILE, CRIMINAL"

The Ku Klux Klan is "imbecile and criminal" and should be "wiped out," Judge David Brand declared yesterday in an address at a luncheon of the Covenant club at 14 North Dearborn street.

"I would stake my reputation that I could indict this organization as criminal and that it is undermining the government," Judge David said.

He recommended a law to make all organizations file membership lists with the secretary of state; a "severe penalty for any body of men that goes into the streets and byways and attempts to undermine the government," and recommended that the American Legion expel all Klansmen members.

DID KLAN STAGE RITES IN CAPITOL IN WASHINGTON?

Rainey Hears Official Was Initiated.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—[Special.]—Representative Rainey (Ill.) today introduced a resolution to create a joint congressional committee to investigate charges that the Ku Klux Klan in full regalia initiated a high official of the federal government in the capitol building at midnight on Nov. 14.

The resolution called attention to a newspaper dispatch from Atlanta telling of initiation ceremonies staged by the Klan not only in the capitol but in other federal buildings in Washington, including the war department.

Rep of Invisible Empire.
The preamble of the resolution declares that "the basic interests of the people of the United States demand a strict adherence and sole allegiance to the laws of the United States," and that "members of the Ku Klux Klan take an oath of allegiance to the Invisible Empire which on numerous occasions has taken the law into its own hands and without trial by court or jury inflicted punishment and outrages on citizens of the United States."

The proposed investigating committee would consist of three senators and four representatives.

Government officials denied today the charges and declared them to be preposterous.

New York Police Print Ouster.
New York, Nov. 24.—The first step taken by Police Commissioner Enright today on receiving the telegraphic order sent yesterday by Mayor Hylan from French Lick, Springs, Ind., to drive the Ku Klux Klan out of New York was to direct that the telegram be printed in the form of a circular and distributed throughout the department.

"If there are any individuals or organizations in this city who think they are above the law, they are riding for a fall," the commissioner said.

State Senator Elmer John A. Hastings of Brooklyn is preparing a bill making it obligatory on all secret and fraternal societies to file sworn membership lists with the secretary of state.

ARREST THREE IN MURDER CASE.
Birmingham, Ill., Nov. 24.—Frank Rainey, John Rogers, and James Adams were arrested here early this morning charged with having been implicated in the murder of an unknown man, who was found in a coal car at Central.

—Mr. J. hires a stenographer

MR. J., in quest of a good stenographer, ran this Want Ad:

STENOGRAPHER—AND DICTAPHONE POSITION permanent; congenial surroundings. * ELECTRICAL SUPPLY CO. 600 S. Wells St.

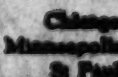

He received but few calls, but did not find the applicant he was seeking. Mr. J. told The Tribune Adtaker that he had decided to spend no more money on advertising. After much persuasion on the part of the Adtaker, the advertiser decided to try once more and ran the following amplified Want Ad:

STENOGRAPHER—REAL OPPORTUNITY for bright girl who can operate dictaphone; good hours; pleasant office; permanent position; starting salary $10.00 per week. * ELEC. SUP. CO. 600 S. Wells St.

When The Tribune Adtaker again called Mr. J. he reported to her that he had already hired a good stenographer; that he had found it difficult to decide between the applicants, two of whom were very good. "The more you tell, the quicker you sell."

Merchandising America's Greatest Retail Market

COMPILED BY The Merchandising Department of

NEW YORK CITY

A STUDY OF THIS compact and interesting book is essential to a clear understanding, not alone of the endless opportunities that await the advertiser in New York, but of the complex problems that the effective merchandising of this market presents. "Merchandising America's Greatest Retail Market" is a painstaking analysis, street by street, block by block, of the Metropolitan Retail Area of Greater New York. Its vast fund of information, collated by trained observers under the direction of expert merchandisers, is so presented that the advertiser contemplating an invasion of the New York market has at his command a faithful composite picture of the entire field.

"Merchandising America's Greatest Retail Market" is divided into four parts, as follows:

Part I

Wonder City of the Twentieth Century

By Mayor Joseph Caccavajo

Expert on Population and Statistics of The City of New York

An exhaustive statistical description of New York and its manifold activities, written by a consulting engineer who has long been recognized as an authority on industrial and social statistics. He has, in this article, given the advertiser a picture of New York that not only emphasizes the city's preeminence commercially, but provides an intelligent estimate of the countless requirements indicated by the steady growth of the Metropolitan area of influence. His picture of New York as an ever extending market for every classification of manufactured goods is at once a prediction and a promise to the advertiser who sets about now to cultivate this boundless field along carefully thought out lines.

Part II

"The World's" Part in Merchandising This Vast Market

A section devoted to the powerful influence exerted by The World Group in the effective merchandising of Greater New York. Five distinct units are comprised in the complete advertising service provided by this Group:

The Morning World The Sunday World
The Evening World
The World Gravure The World Magazine

Each of these mediums, whether used independently or as a unit, plays its well defined part in achieving adequate coverage in the New York market. Not only are their functions fully discussed, but due emphasis is given the institutional character of The World—a quality which no advertiser can afford to disregard where the planning of an efficient New York campaign is under consideration.

Part III

A Key to the Buying Centres of Greater New York

In this section, the seventy-three buying centres of the Greater City are carefully analyzed for the advertiser. Each district is routed as a time-saving aid in covering the city, and reproductions of these route-cards, on a larger scale, are available for the advertiser who makes use of The World's Merchandising Service. The research evidence in the preparation of the data contained in this section of the book has been carried out on a scale that no advertiser could hope to undertake single-handed. The entire mechanism of the retail structure of the city is plainly described and illustrated. This picture of a great city's merchandising system is one of the most helpful documents ever placed at the advertiser's disposal.

Part IV

"The World's" Book of Graphs

An interesting comparison, in graph form, of the advertising values prevailing in New York. The ever important question of rates is here set forth in such form as to provide immediate and easily understood comparisons between the fourteen newspapers of the city. That these charts indicate the economy of using The World Group in merchandising New York will be readily realized by any advertiser making a careful study of them.

Ten Months of Steady Gains Culminate in a Total Increase of 2,269,464 Lines Over the Corresponding Period Last Year, Placing THE WORLD First in Gains Among the Newspapers of New York With a Lead of 116,883 Lines Over Its Nearest Competitor

First in Gains

The World's Record During the First Ten Months of the Year

THE ABOVE "GRAPH" pictures the most consistent advertising performance in the newspaper field of Greater New York over a period covering the first ten months of the current year, and accords THE WORLD first place in gains, with a total increase of 2,269,464 lines over the corresponding period last year, an excess gain of 116,883 lines over its nearest competitor. THE WORLD'S total lineage during this period was 14,251,672, an increase of 19%, about 50% of which increase was in Display Advertising.

Certain aspects of this increased lineage are worthy of the most careful consideration on the part of the advertiser, as being indicative of the trend of business in America's greatest area of retail distribution. In the first place, THE WORLD'S gain represented 44.5% of the combined gains of the city's seven morning and Sunday newspapers. It was 30.9% of the combined gains of all the fourteen morning, evening and Sunday newspapers of the city. And it was made in the face of the stiffest competition New York has known in years, at a time when intelligent merchandising played a more important part in the placing of copy than ever before.

In Dry Goods Advertising, always a measured judgment of the combined experience of the local merchants, and therefore expressive of the best information obtainable on the ground, THE WORLD and THE EVENING WORLD carried during this period a grand total of 5,788,710 lines, which was 20,938 lines in excess of the nearest two-paper morning, evening and Sunday combination in the city under single ownership.

In National Advertising, a class of publicity demanding the strongest sort of influence in the local distribution of merchandise, THE WORLD gained 32.7%, THE EVENING WORLD 15%, and THE SUNDAY WORLD alone 35%, by far the greatest ratio of gain in its field. THE WORLD GRAVURE, one of the fastest growing sections of its kind in the country, increased 40.1% during the past ten months, and 107% during three months of that period, leader of its field in gains by a wide margin.

Judged by every standard which enters into the economical purchase of advertising space, THE WORLD GROUP—Morning, Evening, Sunday, Gravure and Magazine—offer, in their respective fields, a character of service which, dollar for dollar expended, exerts a greater influence over a given unit of population than can be purchased elsewhere in this vast market.

He gazed at her with worshipful eyes. And then, assuring himself that they were alone in the hall, his hand covered hers. "Honey."

Her hand was removed suddenly and completely. "You honey yo' ownself."

"But, sweetness."

"When you talks to me, Mistuh Skigg, I reques' that you address me polite."

"But, Mandlin—ain't we engage?"

"I ain't said we ain't."

"But you ain't sayin' we is."

"I ain't sayin' nothin'."

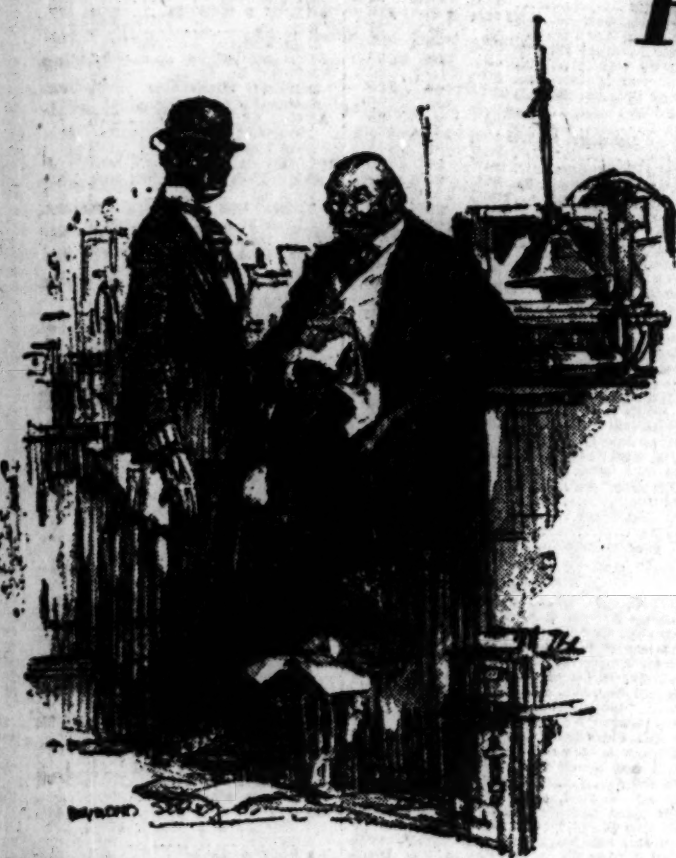

"Well," desperately, "is we is, or is we ain't?"

FIFTY-FIFTY-FIFTY in the Coloroto Magazine of tomorrow's Tribune

Octavus Roy Cohen is the author of this exquisite short story of humor, love and business ethics.

MANY persons who like good stories have ignored newspaper fiction because of the trash that is often found in the fiction sections of Sunday papers. But The Tribune, by getting the best stories that money can buy, has changed this attitude. If you read The Tribune's Blue Ribbon fiction every week you'll find at the end of a year that you've enjoyed at least 52 excellent short stories.

A consultation with the bookkeeper elicited information which tore at the heartstrings of Sidney Skigg.

The ROOM on the ROOF

A serial by
Will Payne

NATHANIEL HARWOOD of Chicago has dissipated the greater part of the large fortune left by his wife to him and his daughter when—

ADOLPH KROM, a lens grinder, offers him a chance to recoup by financing a project to produce motion pictures in natural colors and in relief by means of a camera invented by—

SIMON CURLIN, Krom's employer, who is perfecting a lens for the camera with the aid of—

PROF. STEINMAN, who says he originated the invention. Krom brings Steinman to Harwood's office on the eighteenth floor of the Belknap building in La Salle street; the three strike a bargain, and Krom tears up Curlin's contract with Steinman, which he had stolen. It is agreed Steinman and Krom shall work secretly for Harwood while pretending to remain with Curlin. When the matter of a secret workshop is discussed, Harwood leads them to—

THE ROOM ON THE ROOF of the skyscraper, but Steinman looks down the dizzy height and is fearful. So for the time being he is given a shop in Slow River, Mich., where Harwood, Steinman, and Krom meet—

ELIZABETH MALDEN, Judge Lipscomb's secretary. Harwood at once is attracted to her, although practically engaged to—

LETITIA BELKNAP and her $10,000,000. He employs Elizabeth as his secretary at $75 a week and she goes to Chicago to begin her duties. Curlin and—

ROBERT WHITESIDE, his nephew, raid Steinman's workshop at Slow River and are ejected. Elizabeth's sympathies lean to Whiteside, although she is half in love with Harwood.

BETHLEHEM CO.

TO MIDVALE
IN STEEL MERGER

BY O. A. MATHER.

The way for another big merger in the steel industry was cleared last night when it was announced that negotiations had been completed for the Bethlehem Steel corporation to purchase the Midvale Steel and Ordnance company. The Cambria Steel company will be included in the deal, as it is owned by the Midvale company.

The contract calls for a purchase price of $15,000,000 to be paid in Bethlehem Steel common stock. Under its terms the Bethlehem company will give one share of its common stock at a rate of 95 in exchange for two shares of Midvale stock, which is $50 par value. Bethlehem and Midvale shares in the market yesterday closed at 52 1/2 and 51 1/2 respectively.

Up to Federal Trust Companies. President E. G. Grace of the Bethlehem corporation said the purchase has received a clean bill of health from Attorney General Daugherty, but that opposition was anticipated from the federal trade commission. He said the case when the Bethlehem company was merged with the Lackawanna Steel company several months ago.

These two consolidations will make the Bethlehem company second only to the United States Steel corporation in the industry, as Bethlehem will have an annual output capacity of 7,000,000 tons. Under the completed consolidation it is calculated the Bethlehem corporation will have a funded debt of $21,000,000 outstanding, $20,000,000 of preferred stock and $10,000,000 of common stock.

W. E. Corey, new chairman of the board of the Midvale company, will relinquish this position, but will be represented on the board of directors of the Bethlehem company.

Big U. S. Financing Job.

One of the largest operations in government history is now being carried out. The war will terminate in two months. It is understood the federal government is now for public subscription approximately $1,000,000,000 of its certificates on indebtedness and short term notes. The proportion of certificates and notes, rates of interest, and maturities have not yet been decided.

The government has about $1,200,000,000 to pay off up to Jan. 15. This includes Victory 4 1/2 per cent bonds called for payment next month, maturing certificates and war savings certificates. Of the latter there are about $425,000,000 and it remains to be seen how much will be converted into similar new issues. While the income tax payment will fall on Dec. 15, it is estimated about a billion dollars will be needed to meet obligations and provide for current expenditures.

Copper Industry Improves.

The copper industry is showing improvement, according to quarterly earnings statements issued yesterday by the four leading producer companies. During the three months period ended Sept. 30, Utah Copper more than doubled its income as compared with the preceding quarter. Ray Consolidated, which had a deficit into a moderate surplus, and Nevada Consolidated would have done the same had it not been for extraordinary expenses incurred by fire in its plant early in July. Chino Copper showed a loss, but less than half of that incurred in the preceding quarter.

Copper metal now is selling at 14 cents a pound for the first time in two months. The statistical picture is working in favor of producers, as stocks are increasing and production is not increasing sufficiently to offset the present rate of consumption.

New Stock Dividends.

Stockholders of the White Eagle Oil and Refining company will vote on Nov. 25 on increasing the capital stock from $20,000 to $40,000 shares of no par value. It is proposed to declare a 25 per cent stock dividend, payable to stock of record Dec. 25, and to have the new stock receive the January 1, 1923, dividend.

The American Screw company directors voted to declare a 50 per cent stock dividend and called a stockholders' meeting for Dec. 1 to approve the proposal. There is $20,000,000 of stock outstanding and surplus at the end of 1921 was $1,500,000.

The McCrory Stores corporation declared a special common stock dividend of 10 per cent, payable in common stock on Dec. 15 to stock of record Nov. 30.

Stockholders of the United States Realty and Investment company voted to increase the capital stock from $20,000 to $40,000 shares of no par value.

Three New York lighting companies were granted permission by the public service commission to issue additional common stock, $14,000,000; Astoria Light and Heat Power company, $7,000,000; and the New York and Queens Electric Light and Power company, $7,100,000.

N. A. OIL IS HOT
MYSTERY STOCK;
TAKEN OFF LIST

New York, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Shares of the North American Oil company, listed on the New York stock exchange by the board of governors on Wednesday and traded at $25 to $30 per share, were suddenly stricken from the list and barred from the privileges of the stock exchange this afternoon. The best bid in the market today for the stock was $10 per share, and this was withdrawn when stock was offered.

An investigation of the circumstances surrounding the listing, names of the brokers and of the entire chain of circumstances whereby an unknown stock, which had never been traded in before, was taken off the list of the New York stock exchange, was not effected this morning by the government of the New York stock exchange, which was the New York stock exchange.

At least three separate committees of the New York stock exchange are at work on the mystery. It is the first time in the history of the stock exchange that a stock has ever been listed on one day and stricken from the list the next.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.
LONDON, Nov. 24.—Bar silver, 5-10 1/2 per ounce, 11 1/2 per cent. Discount, 3 1/2 per cent. The market was quiet.

PARIS.—Trading was quiet on the bourse today. There was a slight rise in the price of the 4 1/2 per cent bonds, from 122 1/2 to 123 1/2.

FINANCIAL NOTES

A very peculiar movement in the securities of the Chicago Great Western railway developed yesterday. Both the common and preferred stocks established new low prices for the year. The first 4 per cent bonds advanced 1/2 point to 32 1/2. The reason advanced for the movement in the bonds was the fact that the Interstate Commerce commission has given permission to the company to take up the 4 per cent bonds and issue a new 5 per cent bond in exchange for the old 4 per cent bond.

Wall Street was a bit disappointed when at the close of the day it was found that only a few shares of the common stock of the Chicago Great Western railway had been sold. The speculation in the street was disappointed to find that the common stock of the railway was not sold in the amount of the statements which were made to the effect that there were long lines of stock in the market.

The Campbell Soup company was chartered in Trenton, N. J., with authorized capital of $1,000,000. The company is to be owned by the Campbell family and the Campbell family is to be the controlling interest in the company.

Officials of the Bill board—entirely from the conference with the Interstate Commerce commission—announced that the Interstate Commerce commission had decided to allow the Interstate Commerce commission to issue a new 5 per cent bond in exchange for the old 4 per cent bond.
